MOTHER GOOSE DAY—

Mother Goose Day is a curriculum day for the students to recite a nursery rhyme to the class while dressed up as a character from that rhyme. Get a book of nursery rhymes from the library and select one that your child would like to memorize and recite to the class. Costumes do not need to be expensive or elaborate.

More details from your teacher.

“A person who has not learned to put forth the effort of making himself pay attention will have a hard time putting forth effort in other areas to. He will struggle with distinguishing between “I want” and “I will”, and when the struggle is deemed to hard, he will take the easy way rather than the right way.”

-Charlotte Mason
