

Tips for Reading Success!

Dr. Barbara Swaby, a local literacy expert recommended the following ideas for student reading success...

Daily:

- 1) Read to your child: Read a book a bit above your child's reading level; discussing and enjoying the book together.
- 2) Read with your child: Your child reads the book to you, with your assistance as necessary. When they come to a difficult word, model how to sound it out for them and then have them continue reading.
- 3) Your child reads by themselves: Your child should spend some time reading independently books that are familiar to them and are at a level where they can be successful on their own. After reading be sure to have them tell you about what they read.

Encouraging your child to be a life-long reader will help them be successful all through their school years!
